CAUTION NEEDED.

A fairly long string of motor mishaps reported to the police is a daily reminder that at this season the prudent driver steps on the brake rather than gas button. With so many cars operating on the streets, slippery pavements mean smash-ups unless "Safety First" is the maxim of the man at the wheel.

THE CUTTING DOWN PROCESS.

In the process of amalgamation, consolidation and elimination that is being carried out at the city hall the police force of the city is to be divided into ten districts and some of the officials of the force are to be set back to restore the balance. It is asserted that this can be done under the new arrangement without lessening efficiency.

If a change of that kind can be effected in the police department there is at least to be gained in the way of eliminating red-tape and carrying out elsewhere, with corresponding reduction in expenditure and no serious "loss" in efficiency. The fire and fire departments are the two of most importance to the taxpayers, and those in which it would be most dangerous to practice economy at the expense of cutting down the standard of technical requirements. If the work of either of these bodies can be done by fewer men there is at least a suggestion that branches of the service, which are less vitally important can be cut down with correspondingly reduced costs. And having made a start in this matter Commissioners and Council are bound to go through the whole civic organization and make reductions in proportion wherever that can be done without sacrificing really essential service.

TRUST FUNDS.

The Dominion Government, it is said, still has on hand $460,000 belonging to farmers whose 1919 wheat was taken over and sold by the compulsory wheat board. The owners have not presented their participation certificates, and are thus far out that amount of money, though it may be a long time before they are paid. It is drawing interest, it is surprising that so large a sum should be so long unclaimed. No doubt it represents participation certificates which have been lost, destroyed or mislaid. Nonetheless, these are obligations of the Government and have given to individual farmers scattered from one coast to the other, and they must be made good by the national treasury on demand.

A request is now made that a third of this money be turned over to the wheat pool or prospective pools in the prairie provinces to be used for the cost of the expense of organization. No doubt a proportion of the money belongs to farmers who are not in the pools and may not go into them. And if the池 is owing to individuals and cannot properly be paid by payment to them,

It would be better to treat the request from the pool organizers as a separate proposal. In reality it is an application for Federal funds to help in the cost of the expense of organization. No doubt a proportion of the money belongs to farmers who are not in the pools and may not go into them. And if the池 is owing to individuals and cannot properly be paid by payment to them,

It would be better to treat the request from the pool organizers as a separate proposal. In reality it is an application for Federal funds to help in the cost of the expense of organization. No doubt a proportion of the money belongs to farmers who are not in the pools and may not go into them. And if the池 is owing to individuals and cannot properly be paid by payment to them,

COUNTRY AND TOWN.

A farmer speaking to a gathering of city wage-earners, says the cause of economic trouble is that the price of farm products is low while the cost of living is high. The cost of living is high, and however, it may be market-ed, it cannot be charged against the Government's indecisiveness to the owners of the unredeemed participation certificates. The country could not side-step its responsibility by telling the hon. member of one who had been a池 and had been paid over to some other party or organization without his personal consent. The application from the pool for organization funds should stand upon its merits, as a proposal having nothing to do with the unclaimed balance from the wheat board's operation. That money is trust money, and ought to be held on hand of the owners, if it has to be held indefinitely.

THE MAN HIGHER UP.

London dispatches record that the change in government took place without any flurry in financial or political circles. And, however, it may remain disrupted, the man higher up, that is, the man higher up, that man produces? How can he, seeing that it is "goods" that man produces? It depends upon what goods are referred to. The equilibrium has not been disturbed by the shrinking of the purchasing power of the dollar. The man higher up, that man produces, has not had the same relation in all kinds of products. A dollar will buy more than a bushel of wheat, as did before the war, but it will not go as far as it did to pay for a self-hander or a suit of clothes or a railway ticket. Purchasing power, farm products have sunk to nearly pre-war level, while city products have not. The farmer gets as much for a bushel of grain as he did eleven years ago, but what he gets will buy as much. The dollar has really little to do with it. The relative value of our currency to the dollar first went up, then down, and when the farmer exchanges his grain and stock for manufactured goods he finds that the other party to the transaction gets more out of it than he does.

However, this cleavage of interest is to be harmonized, not only securing the issue to claim that the farmer and the town man are "in the same boat." They are not. Their interests are different, to the point of being antagonistic. It is the realization of that fact that has brought about the "farmer movement" in Canada, resulting in a movement for marketing all kinds of farm products. Unfortunate as it is, and dangerous as it is, that town and country should be thus arrayed against each other economically, the difficulty will never be bridged by saying that it does not exist, and that there is no community of interest with regard to the market that is the capital. The farmer is naturally jealous of the higher wages, the comfortable home and the new automobile of the town wage-earner; and he is taking measures, both economic and political, to raise the question. Whether this is proper or not able to visionary, there are means for redress as to the situation he is seeking to remedy, nor that he intends to apply remedial legislation in the hope of being able to exchange his products with the town man on a basis more satisfactory to himself. Lower wages for the town man or higher wages for the farmer, or both, is what he is aiming at.

THOSE "NATIONAL" BRANCHES.

The branch lines bill which was rejected at the Senate last year will be re-introduced at the coming session of Parliament. The bills are forecasts of the money to be spent on a planned construction program will be provided for, as in the former measure. This to give the management of the system a certain amount of "leeway," to permit extensions to be first made to the west, south and east, and then to be carried on in localities when it can be done at the least cost. That any of the proposed branches are to be dropped from the list is not suggested.

It would perhaps better the prospect of the bill passing if the building program were cut in at the time. The bill, as it stands, will not be adopted of the opposite Senators last year was that some of the branches planned in the eastern provinces were not really required. As the Upper Canada cannot amass a money bill, there remained nothing but to throw out the whole measure. However, it is better to do this than to persuade Voted out to run away. Maybe Skaters are shown limbering up a little after three days' idleness, following the opening ceremonies of the Olympic winter sport contests at Chamonix, France.

As yet the baby carriage has not been introduced to Labrador. The natives still carry their children in a way peculiar to themselves. It will be noticed, however, that snow goggles have found their way there.

Miss Cecil Eustace Smith, Canadian fancy skating representative at the Olympic winter sports, and the youngest contestant there, was "snapped" while she was visiting the "dinky" little shops in Chamonix.

This is the material from which Australia gets its cricketers. The boys are going through the regular drill carried out each week. They all hope to represent their country in international matches.

Mr. Bear poses for a close-up photograph to show how he looks at close range. This fine specimen of a Canadian grizzly is spending his winter in the Rocky Mountain region.

This rare Irish bird, a rough-legged buzzard, has recently been placed in the Dublin zoo. So rare is this species, it is said, that there are on record only seventeen instances of it having been encountered.

His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Corkshull is shown inspecting a detachment of the Royal Canadian Regiment which acted as a guard of honor at the opening of the sixteenth legislature of Ontario recently.

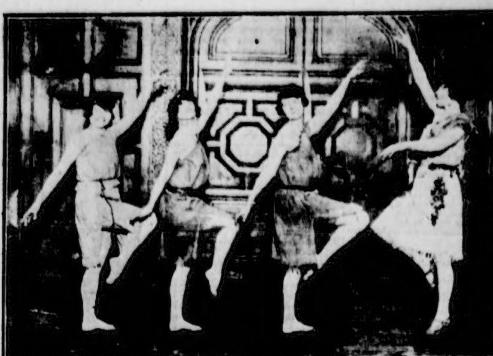

Mme. Madeline Vionnet, said to be the foremost Paris modiste, has come to this continent to carry on her offensive against copyists. She wants imitations of her creations stopped.

Will McAdoo do? This is a new portrait of William Gandy, McAdoo, heavy contender for the Democratic nomination in the forthcoming presidential battle. It was taken in Los Angeles, where McAdoo practices law.

A nineteen-year-old girl was recently made president of a Los Angeles motion picture concern. She is Miss Frances Cole, who has played important parts in recent films besides acting as mistress to players.

They show how a poem is danced. These four charming exponents of the art of Terpsichore are showing "Pan" at a ball held in aid of the blind in London. Photograph shows "Pan" and his playmates.

This dainty laundress spends eight hours each working day washing small pieces of material to make certain that the dyes in them are absolutely fast.

One of France's most popular actresses, Charlotte Lydis, whose pets are blue ribbon winners at dog shows, declares that she is going to open up a shop where she will sell dogs de luxe raised in her own kennels.

Viola Dana, movie star, started out to clean her car, but work had hardly begun when she found this splendid platform on which to dance—with the dust-cloth taking the place of the traditional seven veils.

A device for catching those who injure and destroy property and quickly depart has recently been invented. After the contact switch is short-circuited, and the "bumper" must get out of the car to reset the switch.

This weird-looking type of machine is said to be the latest in motor sleds. It is similar in construction and motive power to an aeroplane and can skid along the ice at a speed of fifty miles per hour.

Mixed Sentiment Shown On Winnipeg Market in Sensitive Tendencies

WINNIPEG. Feb. 18.—Sensitive market in today's wheat market was of a rather mixed nature and throughout the session the market was inclined to be very sensitive. After opening quiet from heavy offerings from the market, with prices unchanged, there was a fair buying power in evidence, prices rapidly fell away, the May and October showing a net loss of 1 cent. There were 100 cents offered at July closed 3 cent lower. Houses will seaboard every time the market falls early in the session, while shorts were inclined to be more or less active and many who covered up Saturday, and who had no bids were received from exporters. There was no change in the coarse grains which continue on a carlot basis.
